This is timely given the importance of - growing current revenue streams, creating new revenue streams, delivering more value, moving to a User self-serve model to improve efficiencies and responsiveness, increasing brand profile and value, providing more engaging services / User stickiness, etc.

.... with quick gratification, personalization, making technology seamless with everyday living, getting more benefits from information services, additional automation for Push Notifications / Alerts / Reporting, utilizing analytics / video / ad networks / blockchain, having Smart Apps with workflow / processing / logic and extensive system interfacing capabilities, etc.

.... to grow your business by making it easy to do business, and enabling people to do more with their smartphone - when they want, how they want.

With the expectation of additional Mobile Services by Users and the ongoing need for operational efficiencies that Apps provide, looking forward to collaborating to improve business outcomes.
